A Shoeshine Boy¹

A boy stood outside a shopping centre, holding a board. On one side was a picture of a boy polishing shoes; on the other side it read, 'I want a shoeshine box!' The boy looked 13 to 14 years old.

I asked him how much a shoeshine box would cost. He said, '125 yuan.' When I asked how much money he had now, he immediately replied, 'I have 35. I still need 90 yuan.' I said, 'Here is 90 yuan. You can have it. I will be in this city on business for five days. By the end of my stay I want my money back and I would also like to have one yuan of interest².' The boy looked at me excitedly and agreed.

The five days passed quickly. The boy paid me back all the money and the interest.

Fifteen years later I had a lunch with a businessman I had never met before. When we were drinking tea, the young man took out a five-million-yuan cheque and said, 'I want to invest³ in your company. I want you to pay me back within five years.' Immediately I asked how much the interest would be. He said slowly, 'One yuan.'
